

Call for proposals for NRS Swierenga Thesis Award 2022

Aim of the award

The NRS Swierenga Thesis Award is supported by the Professor dr. Jaap Swierenga Foundation. The Swierenga Foundation sponsors the NRS for this Award with the aim to draw attention towards high quality scientific research that contributes to the understanding or the treatment of lung diseases in the broadest sense.

The award

The award will be presented to a the candidate who's thesis has been selected as the best thesis in respiratory science, and is accompanied by a certificate and a price amounting to € 4500,-.

Application

Candidates have passed the defence of their PhD on a respiratory topic at a Dutch University during the period: September 1st 2021 to September 1st 2022. Each professor may nominate one or more candidates per submission round. For this purpose he/she is required to write a letter of recommendation to the chairman of the committee of judgment, which is accompanied by 3 copies of the nominated thesis. Please also provide us with the email address of the nominee so we can communicate the decision. The documents have to be submitted to the secretariat of the NRS before September 30th, 2022.

----- > Deadline for submission: September 30th 2022 < -----

The award winner will be announced during the Young Investigator Symposium, December 9th 2022 and presented to the awardee during this meeting.

Address for sending:

NRS | Netherlands Respiratory Society
Stationsplein 127, 3818 LE Amersfoort